

I am totally against this proposal. There is nothing wrong with the written elements for Technician & General classes. There is nothing wrong with the same session retesting either as far as I am concerned. FCC needs to totally delete element # 1, Morse Code from all of the amateur license requirements. Thanks.